Our Call as Catholic Citizens

Part II

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Every Catholic has a part to play in the public square. Lay Catholics have the task of infusing the secular order with Christian values through civic responsibilities, including political participation. The pope, bishops, priests, deacons and religious are to faithfully hand on moral and social teaching so Catholics can form their conscience. Together, the Church and Her members are to participate in the political process in meaningful ways to promote truth and justice in accord with God and His commandments. This is why voting in elections is a real obligation of Christian citizenship. Catholics should treat voting and other civic participation as part of their Christian service to others.

For the lay faithful, political involvement is a worthy and demanding expression of the Christian commitment of service to others. This means that the heart of a disciple of Our Lord Jesus seeks the common good of others in a spirit of service. A disciple of Jesus and a responsible Christian seeks the development of justice with particular attention to situations of poverty and suffering. This means that the Church affirms the legitimacy and importance of participation and citizens are to contribute to the common good by voting in elections for lawmakers and government officials. The Catechism in paragraph 1913 grounds this participation in the public square by stating that it is necessary that “all participate, each according to his position and role, in promoting the common good.”

How should Catholics vote? A responsible Catholic will vote with an informed conscience based on Church teaching with sound moral limits and guidelines. According to the Magisterium, the teaching body and authority of the Church official teaching, the Church’s social doctrine is described as “an indispensable reference point” for integrated Christian formation, especially for lay people with responsibilities in public life. The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops emphasizes that Catholics should evaluate policy positions, party platforms, and candidates’ actions in light of the Gospel and Catholic moral and social teaching. Importantly, the bishops also state they “do not intend to tell Catholics for whom or against whom to vote,” because the responsibility for political choices rests with each person in a properly formed conscience.

According to the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, a “well-formed Christian conscience does not permit one to vote for a political program or an individual law which contradicts the fundamental contents of faith and morals.” Catholics cannot delegate their Christian responsibility to others because the Gospel of Jesus Christ requires that moral truth be proclaimed and acted upon responsibly by everyone. Responsible Catholics do not promote or vote for laws that attack the inviolability of human life—e.g., laws concerning abortion and euthanasia.

To summarize our responsibility as faithful Catholics: Catholics are called by God to enter the public square, especially through voting, with a conscience informed by Church teaching, seeking the common good and justice, supporting morally acceptable policies, and rejecting (even by voting) political programs or laws that contradict non-negotiable moral truths.

God Bless,

Fr. Don Kline

Why Catholics Should Vote

A Catholic has a moral obligation to vote according to a well-formed Catholic conscience

Clergy and Bishops: Teach, form, discern, and uphold moral order.

Laity: Act, implement, and incarnate these principles in public life with mutual communication that supports the Church's mission to sanctify the temporal order. (AA §7)

Catholic Catechism & Non-Negotiables

(CCC 2240) Submission to authority and co-responsibility for the common good make it morally obligatory to pay taxes, to exercise the right to vote, and to defend one's country.

(CCC 1915–1917) Apply Gospel and Church teaching concretely in civic, economic, and political life; vote, serve, legislate, and advocate for the common good. To protect what the Catholic Church considers non-negotiables, as well as matters requiring prudential judgement.

Right to Life

(CCC 2270) Human life must be respected and protected absolutely from the moment of conception. From the first moment of existence, a human being must be recognized as having the rights of a person, including the inviolable right of every innocent being to life.

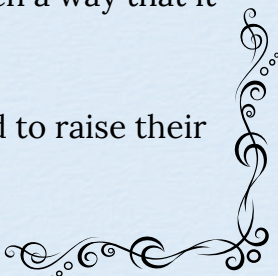

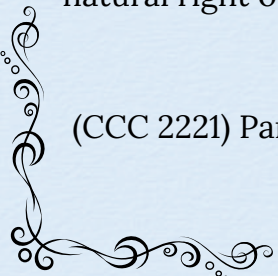

Marriage, Family & Parental Rights

(CCC 2211) The political community has a duty to honor the family, to assist it, and to ensure especially the freedom to establish a family, have children, and bring them up in keeping with the family's own moral and religious convictions. The right and duty of parents to educate their children are primordial and inalienable.

Religious Liberty & Freedom

(CCC 2108) The fight for religious liberty is neither a moral license to adhere to error nor a supposed right to error, but rather a natural right of the human person to civil liberty. This natural right ought to be acknowledged in the juridical order of society in such a way that it constitutes a civil right.

(CCC 2221) Parents have the freedom to profess their faith, to hand it on, and to raise their children in it, with the necessary means and institutions.

Happy Independence Day

JULY 4, 2026

Father of all nations and ages,

We recall the day when our country claimed its place among the family of nations; for what has been achieved we give you thanks, for the work that still remains we ask your help, and as you have called us from many peoples to be one nation, grant that, under your providence, our country may share your blessings with all the peoples of the earth. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever.

Amen.

OCIA

A Journey of Faith

Do you know someone who is not Catholic but is interested in learning more about the Catholic faith?

Do you have a friend or relative that has been attending mass for years but has never taken steps towards becoming a Catholic?

Do you have gifts, talents and treasures that can be used to help support our initiation process?

The Order of Christian Initiation for Adults (OCIA) is the process that initiates adults who are unbaptized, those baptized in another Christian faith, and Catholics in need of receiving the completion of their sacraments.

Our program accepts participants year round and all are welcomed. We currently have participants ranging in age from their early twenties up to retirees. We would love to hear from you.
